

BURGLARIES GALORE.

Robbers Made a Night of it in Norfolk.

THREE BUSINESS HOUSES TOUCHED.

Kiesau's Drug Store, Kato Bros.' Meat Market and Hardy's Scale Office Were Broken Into. The Cellar Door of Marquardt's Saloon Was Also Broken Open From Tuesday's Daily.

Burglars made a night of it in Norfolk last night, entering and ransacking three business houses, but it is believed that their night's work was not productive of very large returns. The three places entered were Kato Bros., meat market, Hardy's scale office and Kiesau's drug store.

Entrance to Kato's market was effected through the back cellar window, which was open but was protected by a screen. This was cut away, affording an easy entrance to the lower portion of the building. From the cellar it was an easy matter to proceed to the upper floor where the thieves rifled the money drawer, securing $3.40 for their trouble. They left a broken pump handle and an old plow share which were used to provide an entrance. After securing what lay within their reach the marauders made their exit through the back door, leaving it open.

The free booters entered the scale office of H. E. Hardy near the Union Pacific tracks by prying open a window. There they secured nothing of value and relieved their disappointment by scattering the papers in the office about promiscuously. They appropriated some chewing tobacco which came in their way.

The heaviest loser by the raid of the burglars was August Kiesau, owner of the drug store. They broke into this place of business by removing the glass from the back window and raising the sash. A Chinese lily which was on the window sill, inside, and barred the entrance somewhat, was carefully lifted and deposited on the ground under the window. Upon getting inside the first place investigated was the cash drawer. Although this was not locked the thief made quite a job of getting it open—showing that the person or the persons engaged were probably novices at the business. It is presumed they pried at it with a stove lid and other articles which were found near at hand this morning, and finally succeeded in breaking a piece off and opening the drawer, which contained but fifty pennies. This was too small a stake for the effort and they were not disturbed. The attention of the burglars was turned elsewhere but all that Mr. Kiesau missed this morning was seven razors and the 31-piece silver set which was offered as a premium to the fortunate subscriber of the Chicago Ladies magazine who might draw it.

Although the loss was not large to any of the victims of the raid, they would be pleased to capture the plunderers and with this idea Sheriff Losey was requested to send or bring his bloodhounds over but as the animals were out of town he could not comply with the request.

The Norfolk officers are making diligent inquiry and investigation and their efforts may yet result in the capture of the thieves.

C. F. A. Marquardt, who runs the saloon at the corner of Norfolk avenue and Fifth street is not certain whether or not he received a visit from the burglars. He found this morning that his rear cellar door had been broken in but could not tell whether the burglars had been inside or not. He did not miss anything from his saloon and thinks perhaps the fellows were frightened away before they had completed their work.

Sessions & Bell, the taxidermists have received a silver-tipped bear to be mounted, which in its wild state must have been a monster, as it weighed between 1200 and 1300 pounds. It was sent by J. D. Edgerton of Fullerton, by whom it was killed with the assistance of Mr. Cook of the same place. The animal will be a magnificent specimen when mounted.

Dr. Frank Salter, W. H. Dexter and Alf. Gerecke started out on a hunting trip yesterday, driving the doctor's fine black horse. In crossing a field they drove over a barbed wire on which the horse caught one of its feet and severed an artery, causing the animal to almost bleed to death before the flow of blood could be stopped. The horse was left at the nearest farm house and the men walked home. Messrs Salter and Gerecke drove out today to see how the animal was getting along.

P. A. Shurtz is quite seriously ill and it is feared by his friends that he is also afflicted with the blood poisoning in which his wife's troubles finally culminated, resulting in her death. The trouble first appeared on his hand in a small sore which later grew swollen and quite painful and it is now understood that the gentleman's throat is affected. It is believed that the poison was received while attending his wife during her late illness. Mr. Shurtz' friends hope his condition is not serious and that he may recover with proper care. His condition is reported as somewhat improved today.

Norfolk has again been treated with a variety of weather during the past 24 hours. Yesterday the wind blew a gale from the south, carrying with it clouds of dust and producing a degree of heat equal to a good hot summer day, and last night the wind developed into almost a hurricane. It subsided toward morning and then switched around to the northwest since which time the temperature has been falling quite rapidly. Some refreshing showers have fallen which put an effectual quietus on the dust. In Omaha yesterday's record shows the highest October temperature in more than a quarter of a century.

The following appears in today's World-Herald being dated from Fremont yesterday: "Lou Moseley, a baker, 24 years, old eloped yesterday with Pearl Luke, a 14-year-old Norfolk girl. The mother of the girl telephoned the police last night to take them into custody. The youthful couple spent the night in the police judge's office and this morning the girl's mother came down. Her wrath was soon appeased and she gave her consent to the marriage, which followed. The girl is quite attractive." Moseley has been painting for H. C. Truman this summer and has lately boarded at the Luke, home where he made the girl's acquaintance.

An interesting suit is being tried today before a jury in Justice Fuller's court in session in Police Judge Hayes' office. The suit is brought by a firm of Omaha doctors against Ed Wagner, the liveryman. They seek to secure their fees for a course of treatment, which Mr. Wagner alleges didn't affect a cure.

E. A. Lindemann denies the alleged rumor that the party recently given by him was for the purpose of influencing votes. Nevertheless it has a suspicious appearance and it is believed by many that it should be terminated in his sworn statement as election expenses. He states that it was given solely in honor of his wife's birthday, if so the plot may be of long standing, dating from his wife's birth and will probably be a rival to the "crime of '73" in history. His friends hope that he may be able to prove that his nomination to the office of justice of the peace was not conceived at that time.

Sioux City Journal: John Malone, a prosperous farmer and cattle raiser of Madison, Neb., was in Sioux City yesterday, a buyer at the stock yards. Madison is the home of ex-United States Senator Allen, now District Judge Allen. The distinguished populist is a partner in business of Thomas Malone, of Madison, a brother of John Malone. Speaking of politics, Mr. Malone said: "Although the county I live in is democratic, I believe it is going to go republican this fall. The voters believe the democrats are too radical on the war question and then the good times have converted many to republicanism. If Nebraska goes republican this fall then it's goodbye to Billy Bryan."

R. D. Reynolds returned yesterday from Salem, S. D., preparatory to beginning work on the new opera house for which he promised to be on hand when wanted. He expected to begin brick-laying this morning but the brick has not sufficiently cooled in the kiln to be used. He expects, however, to begin work Monday morning, at the latest, with a force of five masons, and the work will then be rushed rapidly. During the balance of this week the material will be got on the ground and all things in readiness so that there need be no delay after the work starts. Mr. Reynolds states that there is much prosperity where he has been working and the populists are returning to the republican ranks by the score. He says that it is a quite common thing up there for farmers to pay $2.50 per day and board for hands and that some young men not out of their teens are making these wages.

Pat Stanton of Tilden, vice president of the Nebraska Retail Liquor Dealers association came down last night to make arrangements for the semi-annual meeting of that organization which will be held in Norfolk November 14 and 15. A meeting of local dealers was held last night at Chas. Rice's place of business for the purpose of organizing. Mr. Rice was made chairman of the meeting and Rudy Blatt, secretary. A committee of finance, consisting of Chas. Rice, C. F. A. Marquardt and H. H. Patter son was named, and they will solicit funds tomorrow to provide for the entertainment of the delegates. Geo. Heller was made a committee of one on music. Another meeting will be held Friday night when other details of the meeting will be looked after. It is expected that there will be from 150 to 200 delegates from all parts of the state in attendance at the meeting and the local dealers desire that nothing for their entertainment shall be left undone. It is proposed, among other things, that the delegates be driven to the sugar factory, the hospital for the insane and through the principal parts of the city.

Two Die From Starvation.

Alaskan Vessel Arrives at Seattle With Passengers in Wretched Plight.

SEATTLE, Oct. 25.—The schooner Hera, which left Cape Nome Sept. 26, arrived here yesterday. Two men died on the way down, one of starvation and one of dementia. The only supplies aboard when the schooner arrived here were a little flour and water. The crew was in a pitiable state. There were 200 persons on board. Some of the passengers were half crazy from starvation and lack of water.

News of the wretched plight of the Hera's passengers was brought here Sunday night by the steamer Lakme. The revenue cutter Grant and the tug Sea Lion immediately started after the schooner. They succeeded in finding the schooner Monday about 50 miles off Cape Flattery. The two deaths reported are those of J. C. Ryan, who came on board a well man, but through bad food and lack of attention gradually grew worse until he died on Oct. 6. The other case is much the same. George Lamby, through want of nourishment and confinement in ill-ventilated quarters, was taken with typhoid fever and died on Oct. 21. While he was sick he had absolutely no medical attention. Both men were buried at sea. From the statements of other passengers it is learned that the agent of the ship at Nome guaranteed them plenty of good provisions on the way down. They were charged $50 for their passage. When they were a few days out meat, sugar and butter ran out.

New Point of International Law Involved in Claim of Sealers.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Russia, it has been learned by the Associated Press, has at last agreed to arbitrate with the United States the claims resulting from the seizure of sealers in the Bering sea, which have been pending for about eight years. A protocol between the two governments has been drawn up, the final formalities are expected to be concluded next month and the arbitration will probably take the form of the Venezuelan court.

Wanted—A Sound Eradicator.

W. H. Blakeman owns, among his other barnyard fowls, a female of the genus bovine, commonly termed cow. This gentle and sometimes desirable piece of furniture possesses along with others of her ilk, a voice of some volume notes of which she occasionally launches out upon the circumambient atmosphere. The poet may rave over this bovine accomplishment, but that it is not always desirable to people who probably lack the instincts of such above mentioned poet, is evidenced by the following received by Mr. Blakeman on a postal card:

October 22.—It would be very, very much appreciated if your cow would not make quite as much noise as she has made during the last few days.

ONE OF YOUR NEIGHBORS.

Is it understood that Mr. Blakeman, upon receiving the card, proceeded to an interview with the disturber of the neighborhood and gently remonstrated with her over her seeming lack of etiquette. He even went so far as to read the postal card to her and the effect seemed to be very gratifying at that time, and if it continues so the owner will feel that the desired result has been accomplished. If not there will be a demand for a small boy with a very large hand to cover the cow's mouth, or a patent muzzle specially designed to muffle sound, or he may be compelled to build a noise-tight cell of some kind in which to confine the brute. Anyway he hopes in some way to overcome the objection to his domestic arrangement.
